Museum of Geometric and Madi Art - Dallas, texas, USA,

This exhibit is funded by the Office of Cultural Affairs of the City of Dallas, Texas Commission on the Arts, and Kilgore Law Firm.

Movement, Light, Space, Time,
Dimension and Color New works by Geometric and MADI artists

The exhibit "Movement, Light, Space, Time, Dimension and Color: New works by Geometric and MADI artists" opens Friday, December 11 with a reception from 6:30 to 8:00 pm. Curated by Saverio Cecere, this exhibit of small works by 55 artists from Europe, Japan and South America will also feature art by 15 Dutch artists whose work has never been seen in Dallas. These geometric works by successors to Mondrian include small standing and wall hung sculptures as well as brilliant geometric paintings.

Each of the artists participating was invited to consider the six words included in the title of the show as a path to understanding universal concepts and geometric abstraction. The relationship between the works included shows the divergence of these creative paths and where they meet again in spite of geo-cultural disparity.

The exhibit will run until March 7, 2010.
